

EXCELLENT PROGRAM IS WELL RECEIVED BY THOSE AT THE COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Eighty young men and women last night received diplomas of graduation from the Ogden high school at the annual commencement exercises held in the Orpheum theater. The class presented a splendid appearance and bore out the distinction of being a remarkable body of graduates, as Superintendent Johnson declared when he called attention to their many splendid efforts in scholarship and patriotic service.

The program was carried through very successfully, the choral singing numbers and the individual numbers being rendered gracefully and delightfully.

As evidence of the fine spirit which has characterized the graduating classes of 1917 and 1918 and the high school in general, the local chapter of the Red Cross was presented with checks totaling several hundred dollars which have been raised from various activities carried out by the students. The presentation speech was made by Charles Balch, as spokesman for the classes, and the gift was received by Rev. John Edward Carver, president of the local Red Cross chapter. Rev. Carver extended the sincere thanks of the chapter to the students for their loyal support and commended them highly for their gift.

Urged to Continue.
Supt. H. C. Johnson read a communication from the United States commissioner of education, Mr. Claxton, which urged the young men and women graduating to continue their educational pursuits to as great an extent as possible, declaring it was not the desire of the government at this time to shatter the educational institutions and fabric of the nation by taking youths into the army until they were 21 years of age. It also called attention to the great need for men of special training and knowledge—training which the universities afford—and urged them if possible to consider this greater service which they could render by continuing their education.

Splendid Record.
Mr. Johnson complimented the students and the city schools on their splendid record in patriotic endeavor, saying that the students were learning Americanism in its true form by being taught the great necessity of aiding their country in such a time.

One of the most pleasing numbers of the program was the singing of Tosti's "Serenata" by Miss Faye King, Miss King surprised the audience by the fine quality of her voice and her excellent handling of it. In the "Serenata" she had an opportunity to show its range and flexibility and proved that Ogden has another young song bird of rare merit. Miss King was endorsed and responded with another solo.

The valedictory address, the giving of which is hailed as the greatest honor of commencement, was presented by Miss Elizabeth Seppich. The title of Miss Seppich's valedictory was "The Romance of the Unknown." The composition showed admirable thought and skill in writing and Miss Seppich's deportment was very pleasing. The trend of thought developed in the valedictory was the allurements of the future, the constant lifting of the veil which opens a broader life and a greater service to humanity.

Good Program.
The graduates opened the program by choral singing, a selection from "The Chimes of Normandy" being presented. Rev. Godfrey Matthews offered the invocation.

The salutatory was given by Marion Carter. Miss Carter showed herself an able speaker and, in her salutatory, summed up the appreciation of the class for the fruitful four years at the Ogden high school and its appreciation of the efforts of the school board and the school leaders.

Fred Conway made a very favorable impression in his oration "The New World." Mr. Conway's address bore evidence of careful study and well directed thought and he gave it with ease and command.

Donald Gibson was another who had an especially pleasing part in the program. Mr. Gibson read "The Three Things" telling in brief the story of how Phillip Morton found the truth of God, overcame his inborn snobbishness and imaginary caste and found the good in humanity, unbounded by race or creed. Mr. Gibson has the foundation of a good dramatic reader.

Maurice Conroy sang first a solo "Love's Sorrow" which was appreciated so much by the audience as to demand another. He was quite equal to the occasion and sang again with added success.

The program was ended by the presentation of the class by Principal J.

E. Beeson, the presentation of the diplomas by Supt. H. C. Johnson and the singing of the Ogden high school song, a custom which has been followed for many years on commencement night. The audience then rose and sang "America" the accompaniment being played by the high school orchestra.

STRIKE GRIEVANCE OF LOCAL UNIONISTS
Miss Lottie Wadman, head night waitress at the Kennedy cafe, Frank Schwab and Carl Hinkle, employees of Kennedy's cafeteria, were taken into custody yesterday afternoon for alleged picketing of the place after they had walked out on strike. They were taken to the police station and then allowed to go without a complaint being formally lodged against them.

Nearly all the employees of the Kennedy establishments, including the coffee house on Twenty-fifth street, walked out yesterday just before noon on order of the Ogden local of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees International association.

J. J. Foley, business manager of the local union, stated that the employees of the establishments were ordered out on strike because Angus Kennedy, proprietor of the three establishments, had refused to sign a contract providing for more pay.

Mr. Kennedy said this morning that a contract had been presented to him some time ago, as it had similarly been presented to a number of the other prominent proprietors of eating establishments, and that all had refused to sign it, as to do so would have been suicidal to their business. "But," said Mr. Kennedy, "not one of my employees ever notified me that they intended to quit. I was given no intimation of such an intention. And they took a mean advantage by going out just before the noon rush and then advising me that they were going. I believe I was entitled to some notice. However, arrangements were quickly made and we managed to get through the day without great inconvenience."

Mr. Foley said the contract called for a minimum of $1.50 a day for waiters, six days a week of eight hours in ten each. Overtime was to be figured at 25 cents an hour. Sunday work, the contract cities, should be paid as overtime. The scale for waiters, ten hours in twelve, per shift, is $2.50, overtime per hour 30 cents.

The Salt Lake scale is $2 for waiters, 8 hour shift and $3 for waiters, not more than nine hours in twelve.

The strike was declared at 11:45 a. m. Those who walked out at the Kennedy cafe were Misses Lottie Wadman, Alta Baker, Florence Hokanson, Beulah Ives, Leno Olsen, Katherine Olsen, Pearl Grow, Pearl Eastman, Albert Osborn; at the cafeteria, Fay Tribe, Maude Jensen, Frank Schwab, Carl Hinkle. The chef and dishwasher at the cafe did not join the ranks of the strikers. The entire force at the coffee house is said to have also walked out.

COME ON IN, THE WATER'S FINE

BIRTH CONTROL IS SUBJECT OF STRONG PLAY

From the Chicago American.

(From the Chicago American.)
"Her Unborn Child," the initial performance of which thrilled a large audience at the National theatre last evening, is a drama replete with the human side of life and a story of how a mother's love and devotion to an erring daughter prevents the wrecking of three lives.

It is a story touching on the problem of birth control in a way WHICH BY NO MEANS OFFENDS, but which is a strong warning against the mockery of false pride which so often turns the whole world against an innocent young girl in trouble.

The company is a good one and each player in his or her part received a share of the applause and appreciation from the audience which filled every seat in the house. Florence Bennett, in her portrayal of Mrs. David Kennedy, the broadminded, kindly-hearted mother, is probably the strongest character in the cast.

Margaret Pitt as Miss Sarah Livingston, the wealthy reformer; Tennie Flaherty as Miss Gibbs, the youngest daughter, and Grace Childers, in the part of the erring daughter, did much to make the production a success. The others in the cast are William Champ, Lael Davis, T. Harrison Roberts and Lynn Osborn.

"Her Unborn Child" plays the Orpheum three nights commencing Saturday, June 8, and ladies-only matinee, Monday, June 10.

The seat sale opened yesterday with every indication that the attendance here will be very large.

It should be borne in mind that all under 16 years of age will be excluded, the subject being of a nature not lending itself best to youthful construction.

I. W. W. BOLDLY OPPOSES DRAFT

Made Strong Efforts to Prevent Government From Prosecuting the War.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Evidence was given the jury today in Federal Judge Landis' court that the I. W. W. leaders on trial for violating the espionage act openly opposed conscription, registration and the draft and later attempted to call a general strike in the hope of preventing the government from successfully prosecuting the war.

Edward Finley, a Chattanooga, Tenn., lawyer, testified to conversation had with Raymond S. Fanning, the youngest defendant in the present trial in which the latter admitted he believed that sabotage was a legitimate and effective method for labor to enforce its demands. Finley talked with the young I. W. W. leader at the request of his brother who is an agent of the department of justice. Fanning said he used thousands of stickers in Chattanooga urging sabotage in a textile strike. He said the leaders of the trades unions requested him to use the stickers in the hope that the employers might be frightened into granting the men their demands. Fanning is only eighteen years old.

Letters Reveal Treason.
A number of letters from correspondence files of Jack Law were read. In one he wrote of Joe Schmidt, an I. W. W. who was under arrest in South Dakota on a murder charge and said he would see all those subpoenaed as jurors and in that way he expected to win the case before it went to trial. He sent a list of the jurors to W. D. Haywood at Chicago and told of the work he was doing to reach them.

Letters read from the files of Charles Jacobson, another defendant, told of the activities of the I. W. W. in the northwest in evading the army draft.

One letter said the I. W. W. intended to back up members arrested for evading the draft.
